Dear Friend,

The past year, World Vision has continued to reach into some of the world’s most broken, heart-wrenching places. Our 44,000 dedicated staff in almost 100 countries have worked to bring tangible expressions of compassion and generosity where it was needed most—wars torn Syria and South Sudan; hurricane-ravaged Haiti; brothels in urban slums. Places where courageous mothers, fathers, and children are desperate for hope.

Our staff and those we serve have partnered to achieve so much. Advocating for women and girls. Bringing clean water to communities. Promoting children’s health. Meeting the needs of refugees. Helping pastors learn how to support both physical and spiritual needs. Each one of these efforts is part of our greater mission: enabling people to overcome poverty and injustice and experience full, healthy lives. No matter where God calls us to work alongside families and communities to identify and solve their biggest challenges, building a foundation for them to sustain their own progress. All of this has been made possible for more than 45 years by you, faith-filled providing prayer and financial support to benefit sponsored children and so many others. It is a beautiful display of God’s power, and you and our partners helped us touch the lives of 61 million children and their families this year. Together, we are part of a worldwide movement that is demonstrating God’s love for “the least of these.” Let’s keep the momentum going and build a stronger, safer world in 2017.

Ruth Reyes, President, World Vision U.S.

World Vision stands ready to protect children and families by offering critical help within 24 to 72 hours of a disaster. And our 44,000 staff in nearly 100 countries are committed to helping families rebuild. In 2016, World Vision:
- Responded to 130† disasters
- Assisted 15.4 million† disaster survivors, refugees, and internally displaced people worldwide
- Used $99.2 million in private donations and public grants for global disaster relief efforts
- Supported the well-being of millions of families through 120,000 trained community health workers in 46 countries serving an average of 50,000 households each, teaching the importance of maternal and newborn care, safe deliveries, vaccinations, nutrition, and more

CREATING HOPE FOR TODAY— AND TOMORROW

World Vision is passionate about seeing every child break free from poverty and reach their God-given potential. Our unique development model offers a full solution to the puzzle of poverty—enabling rural and last-mile children for life in all its fullness.
